City employees go out on strike

By HENRY CANTIN

Romulus city employees, members of Local 214 of the Teamsters, State, County and Municipal Workers, have gone on strike.

The strike, supported by Local 214 officials, began last Thursday morning when union members formed picket lines around city offices and buildings.

The strike, approved by a large majority of the 50 to 60 city employees, has been called illegal by City Attorney Peter O'Rourke, who charges the strike is in violation of state law prohibiting public employees from striking.

In addition to calling the strike, Local 214 has filed an unfair labor charge against the city. A hearing was scheduled for 2 p.m. Tuesday before the State Labor Board in Detroit.

Joseph Valenti, president of Local 214, has stated the local is not striking against the City of Romulus "because we want more money than the federal pay board would allow." He reported the strike is for the continuance of the old benefits employees gained under a previous employment contract, in addition to what the pay board will allow under the new wage proposals.

The deadline for the city to respond to the union proposal was last Thursday. The strike followed.

Under the old contract, the city provided longevity pay, payment of unused sick leave at the time the employee leaves the city, vacation scheduling and arbitration of grievances. Valenti charged the city does not want to return to the language of the old contract involving employee benefits.

He said the matter boils down to the fact the employees want to waive the big pay increase to obtain former benefits they had along with the 5.5 per cent pay hike (or higher) allowed by the pay board.

The wage increases offered employees by the city ranged from 18 to 70 cents per hour, depending on employee classification, according to Valenti.

He stated the employees are willing to settle the dispute by accepting the 5.5 per cent salary hike (or higher) that may be allowed by the federal pay board and the resumption of benefits the city wants to eliminate or reduce.

The city's position, according to Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael, is that the city council wants the final say on arbitrating employees' grievances. On sick leave time, the city wants to pay up unused sick leave at the end of each year in December instead of letting it accumulate over the years. On longevity, the city agreed to continue longevity until the employee salary reaches the last offer of the city.

Longevity would be paid at the rate of $2 a month.

City Attorney Peter O'Rourke reported the arbitration of grievances in the old contract was passed by township trustees prior to May 25, 1970, when Romulus was under township government. Trustees were directed to (Continued on Page 3)

Council chief attacks mayor

By HENRY CANTIN

Romulus City Council President Jimmie Raspberry Monday issued his views and position on the current strike by city employees, who are members of Local 214 of the Teamsters, State, County and Municipal Workers.

In an open letter addressed to the citizens of Romulus, Councilman Raspberry compared several areas of past governmental activity, including the present labor dispute, to what he termed "a lack of leadership in the office of mayor."

"During the past 21 months since Romulus has become a city, your council has strived to cope with the many problems facing a new and growing city with a new administration and transition from a township type of government to a city with difficult problems.

"The council and administration has many and varied responsibilities collectively and separately with the same common goal - making Romulus a better place to live, both wholesome and economically as well as efficient as to services and taxes.

"However, I feel there is a lack of leadership in the office of mayor, who receives $17,500 of your tax dollars annually for the purpose of leadership and administration of your government. See Chapter 5 of Section 5.1 of your charter.

"For an example, during the controversy over liquor licenses, the mayor took a strong stand and vetoed resolutions. The resolution read the government body (city council) shall pass such a resolution. The mayor did not like the recommendations so he vetoed them; (on) controversy over police protection (administration responsibilities), he stood silent to criticism and council was blamed. See Chapter 5, Section 5.3.

"Council's responsibility was the funding and approving the signing of the contract. During the controversy over zoning, the mayor was a member of the planning commission who voted and recommended the ordinance of the Master Plan. When controversy was raised, he stood silent and said nothing with council taking the blame.

"Now comes a matter of the union contract between the city and employees in which the mayor, clerk and treasurer were designated as a negotiating committee. According to your charter, Chapter 9 Section 9.1, the mayor has the responsibilities (Continued on Page 3)

ROMULUS EMPLOYEES ON STRIKE - Romulus city employees, members of Local 214 of the Teamsters, State, County and Municipal Workers, went on strike last Thursday morning on a contract dispute involving non-economic issues. Picket lines were formed in front of the city's DPW and Municipal Buildings. Some of the pickets are shown demonstrating at the city hall. An unfair labor charge hearing filed by the union is before the State Labor Mediation Board.

Residents get chance to view new Romulus Help Center

By BEVERLY McANALLY

City Council has permitted the center to operate.

A steady stream of visitors toward the Romulus Help Center, located at 35085 Goddard Rd., Saturday and Sunday when volunteers hosted a community open house.

The center, opened in January as a job placement and crisis referral service coupled with a drop-in recreation center for young adults, is located in a former residence in the Civic Center complex, where the Romulus

The Help Center is an outgrowth of the Romulus Drug Use and Abuse Council, Inc., formed last summer by Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael at the request of citizen and school groups. It is headed by Earl Lamb, assistant principal at the Romulus Senior High School.

Comments were generally favorable as visitors were conducted through the building. The lounge, dominated by a stone fireplace, is attractively decorated and furnished with items donated by Romulus residents.

A basement recreation area features a ping-pong table, donated by a PTA group and juke box given by the Wagner Music Co.

Visitors were served refreshments donated by volunteers with an assist from Vesco's Market and The Wonder Thrift Store.

Organized as a non-profit group, with no source of income, the center is dependent upon the contributions of the community for its operational expenses. With no paid personnel, volunteers play a vital role in keeping the center open.

About 30 adults and young people share the responsibilities for this 12-hour-a-day, seven-day-a-week operation.

Lamb estimated that a couple hundred young people make one or more visits to the center each week. Sometimes, he said, they just want to sit and talk. Frequently there's a card game or a chess game going on upstairs, and always a ping-pong game in progress in the basement.

"We have more kids coming every day," Lamb stated. "They value having this place to visit and generally obey the rules. The volunteer in charge is responsible for letting the visitors know what's expected of them."

Volunteers have had training in empathy and are finishing the first of a series of first aid classes. Other classes in counseling and alcoholism are planned.

Lenten season

The following is the second of a series of Lenten Sermons by area pastors and leading churchmen. This week's article was submitted by Rev. Wilson F. Wood, pastor of the Belleville United Presbyterian Church.

By REV. WILSON F. WOOD

The months of February and March bring what seem like the most barren days of the year. The blue sky is often eclipsed by a layer of dreary gray clouds. The air is damp and cold. Vegetation takes on a pale and lifeless complexion.

The things that buoy the human spirit are in scarce supply more than at any other time. By coincidence, Christendom observes a season known as Lent in this tasteless time of the year.

There are some interesting observations to be drawn from this coincidence. Lent is intended to be a time of intense meditation when man searches for a new consciousness of his relationship to God. Human nature is such that people are least likely to do this when they are comfortable and light hearted.

The gentle, joyful days, when everything's going our way, tempt us with the delusion that we just may be self sufficient. It is when we become aware of our vulnerability that we are most likely to look around to see whether anyone is there to pick us up if we should fall.

The wonder of it all is that as these barren days are viewed through a proper Lenten observance we find that something exciting is happening. In the silence of this lonely wilderness God speaks. He does not speak with audible words of so many syllables. He speaks the word of life in the magnificent person of Jesus Christ. It is the most meaningful word that is ever spoken.

Sometimes we look about and see that man's attempts to eliminate human want and human suffering all seem to end in futility. Like the bard we say, "Life's a tale told by an idiot, full of sound and fondness dreams and noblest deeds on a cross and bury them in some tomb where they will disturb us no more. But if we stay with the one who kept faith all the way through the agony of the cross, he will bring us to an amazing Easter morning when that which seemed so futile is the only thing that means anything.

"Lord, to whom shall we go? Your words are words of eternal life."

Black History Week celebrated at Beverly

The Beverly Elementary School, 35408 Beverly Rd., Romulus, celebrated Black History Week with an exhibit and program last Thursday. The exhibit, which included a pictorial illustration of Black History African collections and paintings, was held in the school's auditorium.

The program included singing, dancing and poetry reading by the students. The corridors of the school were wall-papered with the photos of famous black Americans. Under the direction of the teaching staff, all grades contributed posters and paintings. The school celebration of Black History Week was under the general direction of Robert Parr, fifth grade teacher.

The kindergarten students drew pictures of themselves and glued them around the black leaders. Older students formulated their black history projects from their regular studies in history class.

The fifth graders set up a display featuring African traditions, while others gathered information about predominantly black colleges and universities.

The sixth graders studied black business leaders, politicians, athletes and musicians.

The hallway exhibits will be rotated among other elementary schools in the Romulus school district.

New Boston man arrested

Inkster theatre raided

By KEVIN FOLEY

A team of undercover narcotics agents from three police departments swooped down on the Melody Arts Theater in Inkster yesterday and arrested eight persons on charges ranging from sale of drugs to interfering with a police officer.

The raid on the Melody, located at 28765 Michigan Ave., began at approximately 12:10 a.m., and ended at 12:30 after officers had made four successful "buys" inside and outside the theater from suspected drug dealers.

The bust was coordinated by the Inkster Police Department, and was participated in by police from the Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol and Metro Squad, and Westland police, plus plainclothes and uniformed personnel from Inkster. Inkster Detective Lt. Wilbert Reid said the first arrest was made at about 12:15 a.m. when two Inkster officers infiltrated the theater and purchased $6 worth of suspected LSD from a 22-year-old Lincoln Park man identified as Blendon Jones.

As the two officers led the suspect out of the theater, they were forced to grapple with the chief of the theater's security police, Luther Dillon of Dillon's Patrol Service, who, Lt. Reid said, continued to fight with officers even after they had identified themselves several times.

Outside the theater, Det. Robert Lewis placed Dillon, 50, of 28338 Parkwood, Inkster, under arrest for interfering with a police officer. He was later released on $100 bond.

Meanwhile, Metro Squad officers had arrested six more persons, including one juvenile, on charges of illegal sale of dangerous drugs, and all the defendants then were taken to the Inkster city jail to await arraignment.

Besides Luther Dillon, two of those arrested were later released and the juvenile was placed in custody of the Wayne County Juvenile Home.

At their arraignment in 22nd District Court yesterday afternoon, three of the suspects, Richard McKay, 19, of Dearborn, Rocky M. H. Bruce, 17, of New Boston, and Rodney Jacobs, 17, of Taylor stood mute on misdemeanor charges of violating the state narcotics law, and were released on $1,000 bond each. Judge John McCartney set a trial date of March 1 for all three.

Blendon Jones also stood mute on a felony charge of sale of LSD and was released on $2,000 bond with an examination set for March 1.

Police reporter accompanies officers in raid on theater

By KEVIN FOLEY

They came into the theater in pairs, spacing themselves a few minutes apart, attracting no more attention than anyone else. Finally, 10 of them had made their way inside and had begun the job they had been sent to do.

They were all policemen, some members of the Wayne County Sheriff's Metro Squad, some from the Inkster Police Department, and some from Westland. All were undercover narcotics agents, and they had been sent to raid the Melody Art Theater in Inkster.

The preparation for the raid was meticulous. For several weeks prior to Sunday morning, Feb. 20, police, dressed in the uniforms of the counter-culture, had infiltrated the Melody and made contact with several suspected drug pushers during the weekend rock concerts.

At 11:30 p.m. Saturday, a crowd of approximately 100 young people stood outside the theater at 28765 Michigan Ave. waiting to be admitted to the midnight show. At the same time, the officers scheduled to take part in the raid mapped out final details at the Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol office in Westland, not more than one half-mile from the theater.

At 11:35 the rock show patrons began to trickle in, shivering with relief at their escape from the savage winds that blew ceaselessly outside.

It didn't take long for the pitchmen to begin hawking their wares. As they moved silently among the crowd, they would whisper a listing of their stock — "acid, meth, speed, reds."

Occasionally a merchant would surreptitiously pass a small pill or sugar cube to a customer, deftly pocket the money and move on, never standing in one place for more than a few minutes.

At midnight, a few minutes before the first rock band was scheduled to begin their set, the first pair of undercover officers infiltrated the crowd. They were definitely "dirty," mixing well with the youthful clientele that frequents the Melody on Saturday nights after the last showing of the "art" films.

The officers stayed together, walking among the crowd and listening for an offer. Finally, shortly after midnight, they were approached by a peddler. He offered to sell them several cubes of acid for $1.50 a cube.

All three floated over near the double doors that lead out of the lobby. The seller stood with his back to the doors, smiling confidently, assuring his potential customers of the absolute quality of his merchandise. One of the officers pulled six $1 bills from his pocket and offered them to the merchant in exchange for four cubes. He accepted the money graciously and began to walk away.

Before he could take even two steps, however, he had been collared by both officers and was being led out the door.

As they neared the exit, the merchant began to kick and scream, he begged for help from his companions in the lobby, but the chief of the theater's security patrol came to his aid instead.

A tug of war for the drug peddler was on. The officers pulled their badges and identified themselves to the security guard.

The officers managed to get their prisoner outside, even with the security guard harging on, and finally placed him in a patrol car. The security guard also was arrested, charged with interfering with a police officer.

Back inside the theater, word spread quickly that a drug arrest had been made. A member of the band even went so far as to announce it over the loud speaker. Suddenly, the selling stopped, the cover had been blown. The patrons took their seats and the rock show began as scheduled.

Outside, however, police were luckier, as six more persons were arrested for selling drugs to undercover agents.

By 12:25 a.m. it was over. A total of eight arrests had been made, and police had confiscated a large enough quantity of drugs to build a case on.

Proposed law would place age restriction on candidates

Michigan voters may soon be asked to decide whether persons over 70 years old should be prohibited from holding an elected or appointed public office. State Sen. William Faust (D-Westland) has introduced legislation to put such an amendment to the State Constitution on the ballot in the next general election.

"Inasmuch as candidates seeking election as judges in Michigan may not be over 70, I think it's only just that candidates for other public offices be similarly restricted," said Faust.

"Certainly, those who make the law should be required to meet the same qualifications as those who administer the law," he added, noting that about four per cent of his colleagues in the legislature are over 70.

Faust stressed that there are many competent public officials over 70 who serve the citizens of Michigan admirably.

"However, the public has expressed increasing concern over the fact that some people over 70 are appointed to public office merely as a reward for past services."

"While I fully agree that we should honor and respect those senior citizens who have made significant public contributions, thanks should not be expressed at the expense of the public good."

Group formed to inform people on millage vote

A Renewal Campaign Committee has been formed, with Mrs. Fran Petre, PTA Area Council president, as chairman. The committee is made up of school officials, teachers and parents who are spearheading an informational campaign to insure a positive voter response to a 10 mill school millage renewal referendum slated for March 13.

"We are drafting a letter to parents to explain exactly what the renewal means to the taxpayer as well as the school district - and, most importantly - what it means to the children in terms of a decent educational opportunity," Mrs. Petre said.

In order to get their message across, committees have been formed for coffee hour discussions, to write letters to parents and make posters, all to tell the story of the renewal's importance.

Mrs. Rudy Morris will be in charge of election day phone calling and arrangements for transportation for those unable to get to the polls.

Raspberry attacks mayor

"Since these officials are available during working hours, they were to sit down with the union and negotiate a contract with some sessions in evening hours when council could participate.

"Somewhere along the line apparently some concessions were made by the administration to the union unknown to me or the council, because each time council has made a sincere effort to meet jointly with the union and administration, new proposals keep appearing.

"My concern is not to air the differences with the union and its members in the news media. Below is an offer made by the city recommended by a fact finder sought by the union. This proposal was made on the basis of a final settlement of all issues:

"Office and technical personnel, 14.3 per cent wage increase; laborers, 22.8 per cent; inspectors, 30 per cent plus 5.5 per cent increase for the next three years provided federal Wage and Price Control Commission would concur."

Raspberry, in his letter, referred to printed copies of offers and the final letter received by the union on Feb. 16 with their demands. He added:

"I will live up to my responsibilities as a councilman to both taxpayers and employees, however, I'm concerned with the mayor's action that each and every time crises arise in which we have joint responsibilities to act upon, he remains silent, disappears or leaves the city.

"After the union called the strike on Feb. 16, 1972, I personally called and asked if there could be a meeting arranged with the union over the weekend, an around the clock marathon session with mayor and council present. I discovered the mayor and some other officials (councilmen) would not be available allegedly because of their commitments to a snowmobile race up north.

"I think the public should know what is happening. I do not intend to use the news media in the future for city business but think the public should know what has been done and what is involved. You be the judge."

Party fighting got going early in '72

By DON HOENSHELL

Republicans and Democrats are already fighting in the dressing room as they swing into their fastest start in years. It's a grudge match held over from 1971 and even the customers are getting groggy.

House Speaker William A. Ryan (D-Detroit) is shouting doublecross at Republicans on the welfare budget, Republicans are divided among themselves and are ignoring Gov. William G. Milliken.

Party lines are criss-crossed and snarled on the two-cent a gallon gasoline tax increase to create an $83 million yield, including $18 million to improve mass transit systems.

The first test vote fell six short of passing the package after Ryan and Milliken had put together 57, one more than needed.

Ryan said his Democratic votes stood hitched but that seven of Milliken's either fled the premises or the governor needs a course in remedial arithmetic.

There is a fight brewing again on billboard legislation and Ryan's revered quadrant approach will be expanded, he said, to include not only House and Senate Republicans and Democrats but also advertisers, environmentalists and others.

And, of course, that is the dispute over whether the state can write a balanced budget for 1972-73 without more tax revenues.

Ryan accuses Milliken of writing his executive budget to make the figures come out even rather than proposing realistic spending goals.

The welfare budget is a quick and clear example of the traumas afflicting state government.

In st

It stands at $569 million in state money, matched 50-50 with federal funds, and offers $2.63 a day for each Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) recipient.

Ryan says the language written into the bill last fall contemplated a raise to $2.68 a day on July 1, and a further increase to $2.72 on Jan. 1, 1973.

Now Ryan quotes Republicans as saying they only meant that if the state had the extra $8.3 million it would cost they would study it. He half blames Milliken, who didn't include the commitment in his budget.

"In my opinion this would be one of the most flagrant violations of integrity since I've been in the legislature," Ryan said.

He said Milliken's budget projected an ADC caseload of 162,000, then before the ink was dry inflated the figures and said the extra would cost the general fund $40 million to $50 million more.

"The executive branch of government can't be that wrong that quick," Ryan said.

So it will be a long, cold winter in Lansing before the continuing controversy over welfare is settled, a replay of last year when the social services budget was 5½ months late.

It used to be that the first three months of a legislative session were occupied by committee meetings, long weekends and prolonged sparring before the real fights began.

One of the really big fights was over whether to take up the transportation package or the presidential primary first, the oval-or-square shape of the table controversy.

Marathon sessions were a product of the late 1950's when majority Republicans resisted adjourning to prevent former Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams from calling them back into session.

Under that procedure — when a governor calls a special session—the governor can dictate the agenda. The legislator would recess, remaining technically in session.

But since the early 1960s, the legislature has stayed in Lansing for the better part of the year. Some members, including Rep. John D. Payant (R-Kingsford) have quit to rejoin their families.

This year there is an even further modification, as if they're saying, "As long as we have to be here anyway, we might as well be fighting."

Chamber report

New members announced

Editor's note: The Roman-Enterprise with this issue introduces a new column on the activities and membership news of the Romulus Metro - International Airport Chamber of Commerce. This week's article features membership background.

By DOLORES RISTOW
Chamber Director

Osborne Concrete Co. Inc., 12864 S. Wayne Rd.

John and Bruce Osborne, coming from Belleville, formed their company in 1965. The two young brothers started in Romulus with a dream and then proceeded to turn that dream into a very successful business. The Osbornes have their seven huge mixture trucks running five and one half days a week giving fast service to both residential and commercial accounts.

XXX

Bill Wells Kennels, 32283 Ecorse Rd.

Mrs. Dorothy Wells, the proprietress, moved to Romulus from Lincoln Park in 1960, purchasing the kennel at that time. This was a new venture for her but with determination and hard work, it has grown and prospered to a point where the kennel is equipped to handle American and European air traffic, also all land and local long distance customers. Pick-up and delivery service has been made available. All size animals are accommodated. Mrs. Wells prides herself on her clean, heated kennels. Visitors are welcome.

XXX

Shady Hollow Golf, 34777 Smith Rd., Romulus.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Dul have really done a superb job with their new venture, which was started, March 13, 1964. The Duls have taken a 9-hole course and expanded it into a beautiful 18-hole course. After the first year of business they were able to build a spacious club house. The clubhouse serves breakfast and light lunches. It also has a business meeting room available. The course opens March 1 this year and holds the welcome sign out for league play too.

XXX

Springer Archery Supply, 16084 Hannan Rd.

Richard Springer has a business that evolved out of a part-time 1962 venture into the overwhelming operation he now has today.

Five years ago Springer decided to go all-out, and that's exactly what he did. Today he owns his own manufacturing plant, retail store and indoor archery range. He also manufactures and sells to most major archery manufacturers nationwide. So, once again, Romulus and personal effort has proven to be a very successful combination.

XXX

Security Bank & Trust, 9950 Wayne Rd.

Kenneth Piotrowski renewed the bank's membership under his name upon the transfer of Andrew Konkoly Jr. to the bank's Ecorse office. (Sorry to lose you Andy, good luck!)

The Security Bank & Trust has had a branch office here in Romulus for the past three years and has had Piotrowski on the staff, for six years. Piotrowski transferred from the banks Southgate office in October of last year to Romulus.

Since coming to Romulus, Piotrowski has joined the Kiwanis and is now directly getting involved with the Community Relations Commission in hiring blacks in the Romulus area in one of the bank's branch offices.

One comment Piotrowski had to make was that he truly found all people of Romulus very pleasant to be around and work with.

The chamber is lucky to have the Security Bank & Trust and Piotrowski supporting it.

In our opinion

Some judges step beyond their bounds

The dictionary definition of the noun "judge" is "an elected or appointed public official invested with authority to hear and decide civil and criminal cases in a court of law."

One of the many definitions of the verb "judge" is "... To criticize or censure."

Of late, it seems, at least three judges in Michigan have been "judging" more than seems fitting for the men in black robes.

We refer to Detroit Judge Crockett, Supreme Court Justice Swainson and Federal Judge Roth.

It may be old-fashioned, but there is still a feeling among many Americans that judges should confine their activities to deciding points of law, not making new laws by rulings and interpretations.

Also, the sacred impartiality of the courts of the past is being scarred daily as more and more judges take part in causes and campaigns dealing with matters of no relation to the courtroom.

Judge Swainson, for instance, one of the "nonpartisan" members of the State Supreme Court, recently revealed his support for a political candidate for the U.S. Senate.

Judge Crockett last week attacked President Nixon's support of plans aimed at curbing extensive busing of school pupils to promote racial integration.

Judge Roth has been in the news for several months because of his actions and statements in connection with the Detroit school integration cases.

An editorial in a Detroit paper recently asked, "Is it actually within the power of (Roth) to order an elected public body to hand over to a private organization — plaintiff in a suit against that public body — documents drawn up at the expense of taxpayers? If so, we are living in a legal wonderland, indeed."

Judge Crockett also makes the headlines regularly with decisions which seem to toss the law out the window in favor of civil rights for defendants.

Meanwhile, a group opposed to the present system of electing all judges in the state say reforms are needed — such as appointing judges — to remove judges from the political arena. But the reform effort to eliminate the politics has been caught up in politics of its own.

"Nonpartisan" judges sadly appear to be a thing of the past in most instances.

The legal system is one of the backbones of American society, but some reforms certainly seem overdue in many cases. The lawyer and judges too often seem overly hesitant to take any corrective actions against "their own"; the public has little recourse except in extreme cases.

Until the long-needed court reforms come, it would seem that at least three judges in Michigan should remember the old saying, Silence is Golden, and be noun judges rather than verb judges.

Now comes the landing

Public officials forum

Veteran's legislation comes up soon

By EDWARD E. MAHALAK
State Representative
38th District

An important piece of legislation which is on the calendar for House action in the next few days would remove property tax break available to thousands of additional disabled veterans and veterans' widows.

As the law presently reads, the tax exemption is denied to any disabled veteran or widow of a veteran who has property valued at more than $10,000 in state equalized valuation. The bill before the House would eliminate that limitation.

There are countless cases of disabled veterans and veterans' widows who need and deserve this tax cut but cannot get it because they happen to own a home valued at more than $10,000 in state equalized valuation. There are other instances in which those persons who had the exemption lost it because rising property values and assessments pushed the value of their homes over the $10,000 ceiling.

It should be noted that the legislature already has lifted similar property value restrictions on the homestead tax exemption laws for senior citizens and blind persons. I feel that in all fairness, we should do the same for disabled veterans and veterans' widows. They also very commonly have to live on limited incomes that are pressured by rising costs of living and rising taxes.

The bill may not have an easy time of it. There are efforts being made to send it back to committee or to weaken it by amendment. Even if it does make it through the House, it could face still more challenges in the Senate.

This bill will be reconsidered later, but probably not for about two weeks. This will give its supporters time to rally their forces. It will also give the House members time to thoroughly discuss the bill once more. It is felt that either it will have to prove itself as a good bill, or it will not pass.

One of the companion bills, which is the one that would raise the gas tax, has not received floor discussion yet and it is felt by many that it will be even harder to pass than the bill creating the urban transit fund.

In other action, the House has approved half of the Senate amendments to a billboard control measure, but rejected the rest and sent it back to the other chamber.

There is a question as to whether the Senate will go along with the version sent back by the House. If it doesn't, the bill will probably be sent to a special House-Senate conference committee which will try to work out the differences.

The House accepted Senate amendments permitting a rezoning of land opposite a business for commercial purposes if the business' own area is unsuitable for billboard construction. However, the House said the rezoning must be approved by the State Highway Commission. The House and reject Senate proposals to extend the urban billboard area.

The fund would be built out of a proposed two-cent-a-gallon increase in the state gasoline tax. A certain amount of the increase would go into the urban transit fund, the rest would be used for highway purposes.

The bill that came up for House vote, one of three in the so-called transportation package, is one that would have created the urban transit discretionary fund. It received 50 votes, six short of passage in the House. There were 54 votes against it.

Career guidance is vital

Career guidance for young people is becoming a vital social and economic need.

Yesterday's expertise is not sufficient to meet today's economic and technical demands.

From a practical point of view, those who have the jobs available are the experts. Yet, guidance counselling for high school students remains a function of the education community because of its day-to-day contact with students.

Guidance counselors and schools are faced with the problem of keeping up with the various developments and needs in the American work force.

New and better ways of doing things have their beginnings in scientific developments and experimentation conducted by industry.

The space program alone has opened up hundreds of new areas of product development, use and production.

As a result, new ways of earning a living are being created every day. One of the best ways to help solve the problems of career guidance is greater industry-education cooperation.

A practical approach would be the appointment of an official industry-education coordinator in departments of education at the federal, state and local levels.

Residents, Citizens and Workers:

It is about time that you are aware of the truth of what has been happening in Contract negotiations between us, the employees, and the City officials of Romulus!

Contract negotiations were entered into between the parties in approximately June of 1971 and have continued through November, 1971, with apparently no success. On many occasions, the City fathers refused to meet with the representatives of the employees of the City of Romulus and on many other occasions, several of the "supposedly" key representatives were not there but attempted to control the meeting through their puppet representatives.

In compliance with the law, we filed for and entered into mediation through the State Labor Board. Failing again to reach agreement, and again following the law, a Tribunal or commonly known as "Fact Finding", a Fact Finder was appointed by the State of Michigan and full hearings were held; both the City and the employee representatives giving full equal opportunity to present their case and their proofs.

On January 14, 1972, this Fact Finder issued a decision which incorporates language and economic matters. We advised the City representatives that we are willing to live with the Fact Finder's report as presented to both parties and further, that we do not wish, nor do we demand that the City exceed whatever economic limitations may be placed upon it by Phase II.

However, your City fathers have taken it upon themselves to now take away certain benefits and language items that have been enjoyed by the employees of the City of Romulus for the past three years. Further, we have been advised that the City intends to hire unqualified scab labor to do our work. As a taxpayer of the City of Romulus, you are being cheated because the City has forced us out and has caused you to be without vital services that you, the Taxpayers are paying for.

Furthermore, the hiring of unqualified scab labor cannot possibly perform the services that you, the Taxpayer, are paying for and should receive.

We seek your support and only wish that the benefits that have been enjoyed by the employees of the City of Romulus be continued and that further, whatever the law will allow in terms of wage increases be implemented by the Common Council.

The Tribunal or the Fact Finder found that the City of Romulus is presently paying from 71c up to and including $2.50 per hour below similar cities of similar size in the area. Because of Phase II, we cannot recover all that is owed to us. We understand that. We only wish that the Employer return those benefits that he has now unilaterally taken away from us that were enjoyed for the past three years and that he only implement whatever Phase II will allow. So far, he has failed to do so and by his refusal is bargaining in bad faith and is denying you the vital services that you, the Taxpayer, are paying for.

We, the employees of the City of Romulus, wish to return to our jobs immediately but cannot because of the stubborn and stupid attitude of the City fathers of Romulus. We do not believe we need dictators nor do we need puppets of the dictators on the City Council.

We seek your support by urging your Councilmen to resolve this issue with representatives of the employees immediately.

I think things like these should well be remembered at Election Time.

DOUBLE DOLLIES - Both Jan Pierce (left) and Joan Kaplinski will perform the title role in Garden City West High's production of "Hello, Dolly," March 16-19 at the O'Leary Auditorium. Director William Ainslie decided to alternate 'Dollies' because of a demanding performance schedule of four shows in 3½ days.

Recreational vehicles shown at camper show

Visitors to the fifth annual Detroit Camper and Travel Trailer Show will have a chance to see more than 800 recreational vehicles which fall into four main categories. The show will run through Sunday in the Detroit Artillery Armory on West Eight Mile Road. All 280,000 square feet of exhibit space in the armory will be used.

campers because they are rugged and can be driven into the back country where the big ones are biting.

TENT CAMPERS OR

CAMPING TRAILERS - These low-profile trailers fold out and up into structures with fabric or plastic sidewalls. They sleep four to eight. Most are fairly basic, providing sleeping accommodations and perhaps a small kitchen. They are easy to tow and easy to set up and take down.

Among local exhibitors at the show are Mahoney Trailer Sales, 31525 Michigan Ave., Wayne, and Vacation Campers, Inc., Belleville and Ecorse roads, Belleville.

Mahoney will show Yellowstone and Century travel trailers, while Vacation Campers will have on display Georgie Boy pickup campers and trailers, Mobile Traveler pickup campers and motor homes, Atlas motor homes and Karibou pickup campers.

These vehicles - RVs the industry calls them - are classed as travel trailers, truck campers, motor homes, and tent or camping trailers. Mobile homes - designed for permanent living - are not included in the show.

matinees, which are also open to the general public. The schedule and ticket information are available from the Wayne State University Theatre Box Office in the Hilberry lobby, Cass and Hancock, Detroit. The telephone number is 577-2972.

Scenery a problem

Two 'Dollies' rehearse for West musical

For a short while it appeared that the Garden City West High School version of "Hello, Dolly" would have two "Dollies", but no scenery for the March 16-19 production. "Everything is set to go now, though," says Director William Ainslie.

"The problem with the scenery were a little complex, but the fact that we are going to have two 'Dollies' is very easy to explain," he continued.

"We happen to have two extremely talented performers in Joan Kaplinski and Jan Pierce, and the schedule of four demanding performances in 3½ days makes it desirable to alternate them in the title role.

"Both of the girls had important roles in 'The Music Man' last year and have other stage credits in various roles."

Joan is the reigning Garden City Junior Miss and Jan had the leading role in 'Star Spangled Girl' last spring.

Ainslie agreed that the problems with the scenery far outweighed any casting difficulties.

"In past years we have rented scenery backdrops for our musicals. However, the 'Dolly' backdrops will not be available for our play dates. Fortunately, the Southgate Community Players recently performed 'Dolly' and agreed to sell us their large, moveable professional sets at a nominal cost.

"Our next problem was the storage of these bulky sets until mid-March. We were busy lining up barn and garage locations when St. Raphael Church provided storage facilities right here in Garden City. Now we're looking for someone who would like to purchase the sets after we've finished using them."

In the meantime, Ainslie, faculty co-sponsor Miss Karen Smith and choreographer Mrs. B.J. Scholtz have completed the casting and are well into a gruelling rehearsal schedule.

In addition to Miss Kaplinski and Miss Pierce, the female principals will be: Enola Bushart, Cathy Carden, Debi Froeschneider and Sara Martin.

Leading male roles will be played by: Richard Burton, Dave Disch, Glen Helka, Donald Matthews and Dan Watkins.

A total of 54 singers and dancers will also participate, augmented by an orchestra and dozens of stage, lighting and make-up crew members.

The West High production can be seen at the E.J. O'Leary Performing Arts Center, 6500 Middlebelt Rd., at 8 p.m. on March 16, 17 and 18, and at 2 p.m. on March 19. Tickets are priced at $1.50 in advance and $2 at the door.

Warhol exhibit opens at Hudson's Gallery

The J.L. Hudson Gallery will present a selection of paintings and prints by Andy Warhol Thursday through March 15. The exhibit will include several of Warhol's later works plus the complete portfolios of both his Flowers and Marilyn prints.

Warhol, whose name is synonymous with pop art in America, began his painting career toward the end of 1960. Much of the inspiration for his earlier works came from such simple everyday items as newspaper pages, match covers, multiple images of glass labels, Coke bottles and, most famous of all, single and multiple images of Campbell's soup cans.

After the Campbell's soup cans, Warhol dropped lettering entirely to concentrate on the impact of visual imagery. In his later works Warhol exhibits a newly awakened sense of brutality. Three disasters, which will be included in the show, is representative of this period.

The painting consists of three black images of electric chairs on a silver background.

A larger picture of Elvis Presley, two versions of Elizabeth Taylor, a variety of flower paintings and Warhol's famous Cow Wallpaper, recently used to cover the walls of the Whitney Museum when his exhibit was displayed there, will also be shown.

The Gallery, on the seventh floor of Hudson's Downtown Detroit store, is open during store hours.

'Midsummer Night's Dream' joins Hilberry repertory

A revival of Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream," which was a long-run Hilberry Theatre hit in 1967, joined the theatre's school matinee repertory this week. It will be performed once or twice weekly.

Although designed especially to satisfy the needs of Detroit area schools, the matinees are also open to the general public and tickets are available at $2.50 ($2.25 for students) and $2. The group rate for schools is $1.75.

play with his fellow mechanics for the royal wedding festival.

The Hilberry production's four lovers are Lee Smith and Diane Hill as Lysander and Hermia and Terry Baker and Cheryl Giannini as Demetrius and Helena. Puck is played by Maryellen Clemons, with David G. Combs and Kathleen Gaffney as Oberon and Titania. Thomas B. Hill heads the mechanics as Bottom the Weaver, and Dennis Romer and Mimi Carr play Theseus and Hippolyta.

Direction is by Richard Spear, who also staged the original Hilberry production. Scenery is by Russell Smith, costumes by Vic Leverett, lighting by Gary M. Witt and choreography by John Hofasas.

Schools or individuals wishing to obtain further information or to make reservations should call the box office at 577-2972.

Will-O-Way offers kids plays

"Is Skunky stuck somewhere?" "Does Mr. Frogot still have his cigar?" Who are these people? Well, they're not ... exactly.

They're some of the delightful puppet characters in Will-O-Way Theatre's Repertory Puppet Company and the questions are being asked by youngsters who have followed their antics in Michigan Schools, TV appearances, and most recently at the Bloomfield Public Library.

Now, due to the command performance demanded by so many happy children, Will-O-Way Theatre, 775 W. Long Lake Rd., Bloomfield Hills, will offer Special Children's Performances every Saturday starting Feb. 26 with shows at 12:30 p.m. for kindergarten through third grade, and at 4:40 p.m. for the fourth through sixth grades. There is a small admission charge.

Parents have responded with letters and phone calls at the success of the Puppeteers in introducing such subjects as ecology, manners and morality, prejudice and discrimination, drug abuse and the arts to their children. Through the antics of the puppets, using scripts written by Celia Merrill Turner, director of Will-O-Way Theatre, children have been introduced to some very large issues and had a good time in the process.

Groups may call 644-4418 for reservations.

Cunningham to be in Detroit

Merce Cunningham, John Cage and Cunningham's eight-member dance company - major influences on contemporary dance, music and theatre - will come to Detroit for an unprecedented four-day residency, Thursday through Sunday.

Two 8:30 p.m. public events at the Detroit Institute of Arts and five master classes-lecture-demonstrations in various metropolitan locations will give general audiences, students and teachers an opportunity to see, meet and work with these artists.

Recognizing the interaction of performing and visual arts (Cunningham has collaborated with artists Marcel Duchamp, Jasper Johns, Robert Morris, Isamu Noguchi, Robert Rauschenberg, Frank Stella and Andy Warhol), the Friends of Modern Art of the museum's Founders Society are major sponsors of this residency, in cooperation with Detroit Metropolitan Dance Project, the National Endowment for the Arts and the Michigan Council for the Arts.

CEDAR CLADS KITCHEN - Counter stove and work area in kitchen island is screened from the family room and dining area with warm, colorful red cedar board paneling. Storage beneath stove, on wall with oven, in pantry wall opposite stove keeps cooking needs close at hand and out of view. Ceiling of 2x4-inch Douglas fir on edge adds warmth, pattern.

Successful kitchen uses limited space

A kitchen should be as friendly and comfortably efficient as possible, considering the many hours of the day family members spend there accomplishing a large amount of work.

Remodeling thoughts often begin with or at least include the kitchen, and for good reasons. As the heart of the home, it deserves attention and often needs it. Women also give high priority to the kitchen when buying or building a house.

Creating a kitchen that reflects the homemaker's personality and most efficiently serves her needs begins with thorough study of present limitations and how the new area will fit into traffic patterns and family requirements.

In older homes the kitchen often is large, but much of the space may be wasted because furniture and appliances have been added over the years at random. And in newer homes, the kitchen may be too small, especially for a growing family.

One secret of a successful kitchen is full use of limited space, with built-in cabinets and shelves for storage of an assortment of platters, bakeware and serving trays as well as the usual dishes and glassware.

One pleasant kitchen visited recently, in a pitched-ceiling, open-plan home, simply is an island, surrounded on two sides by dining area and family room and on the other two by tall divider walls holding ovens, pantry and cabinets.

The island has a countertop stove and work area, with additional storage below. The island is faced on three sides with resawn red cedar board paneling continuing about 18 inches above the counter surface to screen the work area from dining and family rooms.

Adding to the warm, relaxing character of the area is the ceiling of nail-laminated 2x4-inch Douglas fir on edge reaching to the high ridge beam, and the large, free-standing brick fireplace in the family room.

IMPROVE YOUR HOME

Before the mad scramble

'Operation Outdoors' begins

Would you believe: Operation outdoors?

Glance at the calendar. In a few weeks we can enjoy spring breezes, baby birds and crocus. It is an exhilarating thought.

Comes the mad scramble to enjoy. Who is going to paint the outdoor furniture, repair the cushions, clean the pool and winter debris from the yard, spade the garden? It is no different from any other year. Everyone is avid for the outdoor season, but when it arrives, some aren't prepared. Well, maybe the pool will be ready for the fourth of July picnic.

Why not be ready, set, go? When Act III: Outdoors is on cue, you merely push all refurbished props on your backyard "stage."

Women may get in the mood by choosing a new color scheme for the outdoors, refurbishing the furniture and accessories indoors. They might visit stores for fabrics and accessories, paint and patch up products at their leisure and take time to do a good job. Who knows, you could have a setting that may be the envy of the neighborhood.

Lemon, lime, blueberry, cherry, orange are strong fruit colors that will bloom in backyard furnishings in the fun season. When a color scheme has been decided, make a paper color plan or get a good idea of what you want, and refurbish one piece at a time over a few weeks period. Use the dark color on the furniture, wrought iron or pine, and lighter shades for cushions, table accessories, flower pots, baskets. Anyone with the ambition to maintain it may enjoy planning a flower border or garden of the same colors.

Here are some interesting new color ideas:

Blueberry with white and red-paint table, chairs in the blueberry color. Slipcover cushions in white. Paint a basket or other flower container white, fill it with pots of geraniums when the time comes and use it as a centerpiece. The pots will help keep a basket weighted to the table.

Lime is pretty with pale yellow or kelly-green accessories. Choose a soft lime, not a bilious color with yellow plants in a lime-painted container or pretty green ferns in a pale yellow container. Seat cushions can be lemon or green.

Cherry color with pink or dark green or even black, changing the accessories to suit the occasion. Black or dark green is pretty for a rugged coffee-mug type barbecue, whereas pink accessories will provide a pretty picture for an afternoon lunch.

Use the dark colors in candles. Paint flower pot bases that line the patio, deck or terrace to match the darker color.

Before you paint furniture, repair any rickety places. Use wood filler where screws have eroded wood. You will not want to paint redwood, if that is what you have, so all the color might be put into cushions and other accessories. Orange and lime are great colors to use with redwood.

One big hindrance to early enjoyment of the outdoors may be the necessity of depending on outside help. But you can get a jump on that too if you will just make a list of things that must be done. Here are some memory joggers: You can have your awning rehung promptly if you get on the list early.

If your swimming pool is cleaned and conditioned by outside sources drop them a note that you would like an early visit from their crew.

If men are needed for yard clean-up or garden plowing, give them early notice. Watch the ads placed by college boys looking for work. Many have early vacations.

Another advantage in calling workmen, helpers and contractors early is that you will know how much a job will cost. If their prices have escalated, you might decide to do it yourself. Some people will go through the summer without putting their swimming pool into operation because the cost of repairing it couldn't be met by their budget. By the time they established the job-price, other commitments made it impossible for them to do the work themselves.

Anyone planning a big project-outdoor terrace, deck and so on-should call the workmen now. You may even decide that you will have to do it yourself or do without it another year.

A super hint - Another way to move a heavy rock around the yard is with a wide snow shovel. Work the shovel in under the rock. Once it is set, the heavy load can be pulled without too much effort and with no strain.

Dear Al:

Before tossing away an old paint brush, cut off the handle right above the ferrule (metal part). I mounted one on the back of a sanding block, and it's now easier to work with. There are probably other uses for these handy handles. I hope so because I now have over a dozen.

W.A. Sounds like you need to learn how to take better care of paint brushes.

Shop talk - Attaching jumper cables to your battery is not an easy job at night without lights. It also can be bad for your car if the clamps aren't attached to the right posts. The newest ones have a light built in to the cables, when hooked to the hot battery, the juice also operates this light and lets you see what you are doing. Lighted booster cables are such a natural idea I'm surprised someone hasn't thought of this before.

Al Carrell welcomes all mail, especially tips from fellow handymen which he can pass on to readers as space permits. While he cannot answer all individual letters, he will try to nail down your problem in his column whenever possible.

Two-in-one bucket allows maneuverability

Dear Al:

I was real proud of my new propane torch, but soon found there was no way to store it conveniently. It wouldn't fit in my shop drawers or hang from the pegboard wall. I made a holder from a pair of No. 2 cans that is attached to the side of my workbench. I cut both ends out of one can and butted it against the open end of the other to form a long sleeve into which the propane cylinder fit. The torch is handy, yet out of the way.

"A Torch Carrier"

Dear Al:

When cleaning windows on a ladder, having a bucket for the cleaning solution and one for the rinse water makes a very crowded ladder. I carry them both up in one bucket! I place a 2 lb. coffee can in the middle of the bucket and fill it with water. Then I mix my cleaning solution in the bucket around the can, making sure its level is no higher than the level in the coffee can. This keeps them segregated, and yet allows me to carry the whole bit up in one bucket.

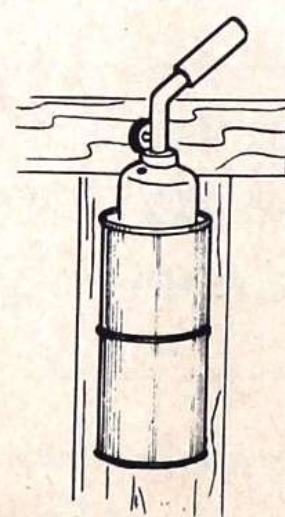

Use this one anytime you need two liquids at once.

Dear Al:

After finishing our lake house, I found it would be several months before I could again get the cement mixer to pour a walk from the road to the house. Rather than sink to our knees on each visit, I made a temporary walk by laying out a roll of asphalt roofing material. It was easy to put out and gives us a dry hard surface to walk on. I'm sure it will get punctured eventually, but so far has worked well. Not bad - a walk in 5 minutes for under $5.00.

Dear Al:

When I need to cut off some bolt heads flush with the metal surface in which they were inserted, I found the ends of my hacksaw wouldn't allow the blade to lie flat. I solved the problem by turning the blade at right angles to the saw frame. Then, with the blade loose, I wedged blocks of wood cut to fit between the blade and the frame. These were placed as close to the ends of the blade as possible, and when the blade was tightened, the wood blocks were long enough to keep the center part below the frame. It cuts down on the cutting area, but lets you saw flush with the surface.

Replacing screening isn't as hard as it looks

You can replace the screening inside either a wood or metal frame even if you have never had any experience at this type of repair.

Your local hardware store, lumber yard or supply dealer carries various kinds of screening, including galvanized iron, aluminum and fiber glass. If you wish to get the same kind and you aren't sure of the makeup of the old mesh, take a piece of it with you when making the purchase.

Metal screening in a wood frame is applied in a slightly different manner than metal screening in a metal frame or fiber glass in either frame. First, some details about metal mesh in wood.

Use a putty knife or other flat tool to pry up the narrow molding that runs along the inside of the frame, then remove the screening, which usually is held in place with tacks or staples. In measuring the size of the new screening, be sure to allow room for a workable margin on all four sides. Use tin snips or a pair of old shears for whatever cutting has to be done.

Place the new screening on the frame so that it overlaps an inch or more on all sides. Staple or tack it into place as you go along, keeping the mesh taut. Do one side first, then the opposite side. Because some persons find it difficult to keep the screening tightly in place, it is recommended that a first-time handyman use an old but effective method of insuring tautness.

Lay the frame on a sturdy surface. Place two boards about one inch thick under the ends of the frame. Use clamps to bend each side of the frame downward so that it touches the surface. Now attach the screening to the frame, which is bowed during the operation because of the clamping. When the clamps are removed, the frame springs back into place, automatically making the mesh taut.

Trim away any ragged edges of screening and replace the molding. If you decide to repaint the molding, do it before it is reattached. This will eliminate the tedious task of painting the molding, while it is in place without getting paint on the mesh.

The procedure is much the same in replacing the screening in a metal frame except that the mesh is held in grooves in the frame with splines, usually flexible. When the screening is laid over the frame, with about a 2-inch overlap on each side, the splines are pushed into the groove, a job that is especially simple with a small convex wheel made for the purpose. If the old splining is in good condition, it can be re-used. If not, it can be bought where you get the screening.

With fiber glass screening, the important thing to remember is that, while it must be fairly taut, it should not be stretched as tightly as with metal mesh.

General tendencies: You are under excellent influences now to work out new arrangements with members of your own household for greater efficiency of operation and more harmony. You can figure out the best manner in which to so channel your energies and efforts that the future will hold greater promise for you.

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Ideal day to sit down with kin and talk over how to have greater success and harmony in the future. Plan the social activities for the future that are wise. Handle that business matter with real judgment.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get an early start on important tasks, keeping appointments, buying new articles, etc. Being on time to see that important man can bring right results. Gain much peace of mind in p.m.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) Handle financial affairs well in a.m. so you can cut down on expenses and get bills paid off easily. Show appreciation for one who advises you well. Use cabs more often to save yourself much time.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) Morning is best time to handle personal affairs very well, but don't argue with others later in the day. Take time for your beautician or barber. Make your appearance as attractive as you can.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) Handle tasks that are of a confidential nature early in the day for best results. Then you will have more time left for recreation. Hunches are fine early but not dependable later. Home and family are best tonight.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Some dependable friend will assist you with some plan you have that is important to you in a.m. Get into the project that gives you more prosperity in the future. Make your life far more interesting, satisfying.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Show cleverness in pleasing bigwigs who have much control over your affairs and you will get fine support. Get into that civic work for which you are well suited. Do nothing that can ruin your reputation.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have some very good ideas that only need discussing with experts in such fields who will help you solve whatever is puzzling you. Make some little change that is wise. Plan that trip now that is important to your scheme of things.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Study your responsibilities early and then handle them with sureness and dispatch so you free your time for other activities. Doing whatever improves your relationship with mate is wise later. Build up the other's ego.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You like to work and this is a day when you can do so to your heart's content and get obligations behind you quickly and well. State your aims to co-workers and gain their more willing cooperation. Take it easy tonight.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You can plan amusements for the days ahead or for the p.m. early in the day, so you feel more content. Use right means to reassure the object of your affections of your devotion. Stop feeling sorry for yourself. If your child is born today he or she will be one of those highly evolved young people who automatically understands what is best for self as well as others, so it would be well to slant the education along lines of influence in the community, such as government or ministry. Good also for personnel work. Others will gladly trust your fine youngster who will definitely make his or her mark in the world early in life.

Stroke club to hold gripe session

"It could be worse..."
"This is your cross to bear and you must live with it..."
These are the phrases that drive the wives of two men with stroke disabilities "right up the wall and out the roof."

The wives, Mrs. Virginia Rzepecki and Mrs. Ronald Bulas, and their disabled husbands, members of the Metropolitan Stroke and Aphasia Club, will participate in a "what I hate most" gripe session at its next meeting, 7:30 p.m., Friday, Feb. 25, at the Kiwanis Building, Parks and Recreation Department, Detroit River and Lenox.

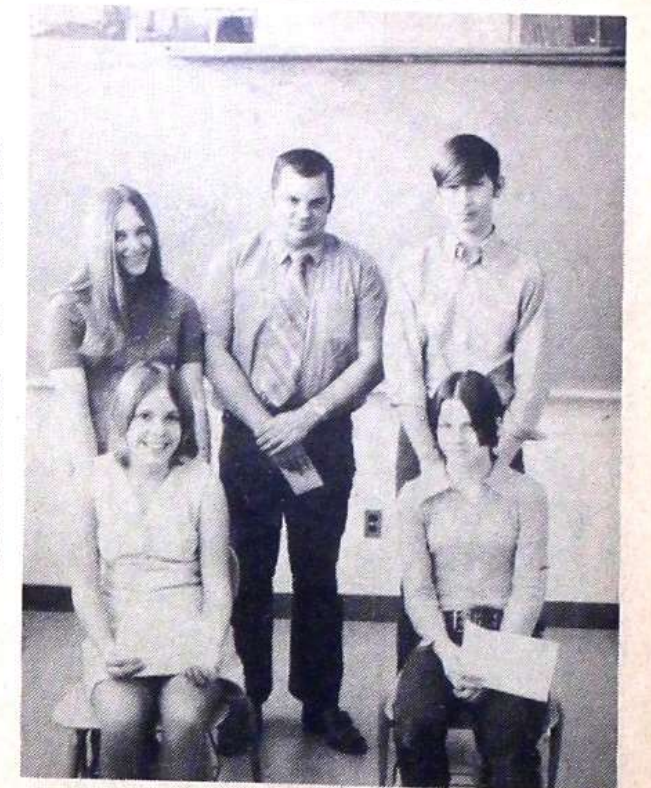

Stroke patients and their spouses and families, as well as professional therapists working with patients, are welcome and are eligible for membership, says Mrs. Virginia Hawkins of Springwells Street, Detroit, president of the club. The club, which has been aided by the Michigan Heart Association, a Torch Drive agency, gives patients a chance to visit and talk with fellow patients, a healing experience. It also promotes public interest in the plight of the stroke victim and in the often catastrophic disease. Mrs. Rzepecki, of Detroit, whose husband, Leonard, a former supervisor of computers, suffered a stroke in June 1969, says she knows "It could be worse,"—he could be dead—but she can't help remembering how good life had been before her husband was stricken.

"The phrase 'it could be worse' is common in households where the patient is dressed, walks around, looks well, but suffers from an inability to communicate," she explained.

Status Report on Millage: Superintendent reported attending a meeting at Cory to explain renewal millage; next meeting will be Thursday morning, January 13th at 9:30 a.m., with executive boards of all PTAs, PTA Area Council, administrators and principals; seeking commitment from PTA Area Council to support board verbally and actively. This would mean people in community talking with people in community, and would be a particularly good avenue for dissemination of information. Superintendent reported that he will be speaking at Beverly School on Thursday evening and there is a request for a millage speaker for Harrison PTA on January 18th.

A member suggested forming small neighborhood groups so that one individual could talk with every family within a block or so and in this way every home in Romulus would have personal contact.

Member of audience asked how long renewal was being requested. Answer: Five (5) years.

Questions re legislative action which would make property taxes for support of schools unconstitutional. Answer: law would supercede; ie any millage passed would be revoked if such a law is passed and after time period to implement law.

Member asked why surrounding communities levied less property tax and received more federal monies. Answer: Equalized value of property in Romulus is greater than in some neighboring communities, making Romulus ineligible for some federal programs. Noted that Romulus is no longer considered a distressed area.

Board was asked about cut-backs in event millage does not pass. Suggested by audience that information NOT be given to public in form of threat, but rather in terms of what $1,500,000 now buys in way of services, teaching supplies, cultural advantages, etc.

Motion by Lovette supported by Budd to assign student teachers only to Romulus teachers on tenure with MA or Minimum five (5) years teaching experience. Motion carried unanimously.

Mr. Gregory questioned lack of performance on board direction relative to bus stop at Grant and Moore. Mr. Gregory assured of positive action.

Mr. Plank expressed concern re drainage of Merriman site question in responsibility for payment of corrections. Mr. Bath asked why board did not buy right-of-way to Hale Creek before building was erected. Discussion on natural drainage of land before subdivision was built.

Mr. Bath questioned board action relative to deferring items to Executive Session; board explained that matters directly concerning personalities or such things as site purchases must be discussed in Executive Session.

Resume of Merriman site drainage problem history. Presentation of possible solutions and estimates of costs. Mr. Jahr also suggested an additional survey be made at this time to establish elevations as there have been so many area topographical changes due not only to building of school, but also subdivisions in immediate vicinity.

Superintendent reported Merriman Road is no longer responsibility of Wayne County Road Commission but under jurisdiction of City of Romulus. Director of M & O recommended a study be made to ascertain whether City will permit lowering ditch on Merriman Road to possibly provide sufficient drainage and alleviate portion of problem.

Motion by Draper supported by Lovette authorizing architect to have site surveyed with elevations established at significant points along drain route: cost not to exceed $300.

Amendment to motion offered by Christensen supported by Budd that board hire surveyor to establish elevations at significant points. Motion carried unanimously.

Question on original motion: Motion carried unanimously.

Superintendent directed to check with City of Romulus relative to lowering Merriman Road ditch and submit report to board at next meeting.

Member Boger read excerpts from superintendent's speech to PTA Executive Boards, stating that she felt such remarks are detrimental to good of board in passing this millage; further, relating her experiences at an elementary school PTA meeting where she spoke in behalf of millage and was closely questioned by members of teaching staff relative to possible cut-backs in education program in event millage fails.

Motion by Boger that directive be sent from Board of Education to its teaching staff stating that there will be no instances of comments made by them as to what will be cutback if millage fails; any infractions to be brought to attention of this board and also recorded on their personnel record.

Motion failed for lack of support.

Member Lovette stated that he had spoken at Merriman PTA and when asked about possible cutbacks in event millage fails, simply replied that anything he could tell them would be just a 1-7th opinion, inasmuch as he is only one member of board; further, there are some expenditures which cannot be cut because they are required by State Board of Education. Other than that, he hoped that possible cuts would be listed together with cost of each service for edification of voters who would then be given the opportunity to voice a preference.

Superintendent answered Member Boger's criticism relative to his comments to PTA Executive Boards, stating remarks were not personally directed to board relative to definite decision on cutbacks prior to March 13th election. Superintendent further stated that memo could be sent out to staff which would state that inasmuch as no decision on cutbacks had been made by board, any statements made relative to this would be invalid, however, he felt board should recognize fact that every employee in school district has a vested interest along with every taxpayer.

Member Boger stated that inasmuch as teachers contact the most children, and children contact the most parents; teachers are in the driver's seat and can do the most harm.

Motion by Boger supported by Budd that memo be sent out by superintendent's office asking that teachers refrain from discussing decisions on possible cutbacks inasmuch as no decisions have been made. Motion carried unanimously.

Superintendent stated that he would draft a memo which would state, in essence, that: "I have been directed by Board of Education to send out following memo asking teachers to refrain from discussing any possible cutbacks because Board of Education has taken no such action." Copies of proposed letter to be sent to board members for editing prior to release.

Consensus that Board of Education would take no action as to possible cutbacks prior to millage election March 13th.

Mr. William R. Smith, Community School Director, introduced teachers active in adult education program and gave overview of entire program for semester and semester coming up; also tentatively suggested possibility of board meeting with Dr. Minzey of Eastern Michigan University on February 21st when time might permit a more in-depth evaluation of program and future prospects.

Mrs. McAnally was in audience and publicly commended Mr. Smith for outstanding job he is doing.

Mr. Carr, Principal of High School, and some Department Heads reviewed desired changes in curriculum and curriculum offerings to stimulate student interest and better coordinate entire high school program. Some questions re lack of practical experience offered in Vocational Education Program, with too much stress on textbook materials.

Member Draper excused at 11:00 p.m.

Consensus that Mr. Carr and Department Heads begin immediately to implement suggested changes in curriculum and curriculum offerings with minor revisions as made by board.

Consensus that Student H be denied another hearing at this time.

A member questioned status of disposal of Texas School property.

Consensus that February 14th meeting be held as scheduled.

Discussion of millage meetings held at Harrison and Merriman Elementary schools.

Superintendent reported on meeting of Region 9 superintendents relative to Roth decision. Consensus that Board would be alert to developments in that particular case in event action is necessary.

A member suggested that all Vocational Educational courses be immediately changed to implement practical experience and manual techniques with textbooks being used for reference, only.

Motion by Christensen supported by Boger to adjourn meeting. Motion carried unanimously.

Romulus personals

Anniversary celebrated

By PEARL MORRIS
Phone WH 1-1187

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. Fulford of Lotz Road, Wayne, celebrated their 61st wedding anniversary on Tuesday, Feb. 22. The couple, who are former long-time Romulus residents, observed the day quietly at home.

The Mary Martha Circle met for a pot-luck dinner Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Myrtle Renkopf, 36868 Goddard Road. The group is affiliated with the local United Methodist Church.

Local Girl Scouts will be calling at homes from Feb. 18 through March 6, taking cookie orders in their annual Girl Scout Cookie Sale. The Girl Scout cookies will be 50 cents per box. Delivery will be made from April 14 through April 26. Mrs. Michelle Renke is the Romulus area chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Varner and son, Darius, of Haggerty Road enjoyed lunch Sunday evening with Miss Pearl Morris, Mrs. Mary Lou Fox and son, William, at their home on Huron River Drive South, in celebration of Mr. Varner's birthday. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hay and Carla and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Herrmann and son, Geoff, all of Romulus, called later to visit and share in cutting the birthday cake, along with Gerald Diepenhorst Jr., of Northline Road.

A meeting of the Wayne County 4-H Fair Board will be held at the Wayne County 4-H Fairgrounds, Quirk Road, Belleville, on Thursday, March 2. The time is 8 p.m.

Carl Morris was honored at a surprise birthday gathering Saturday evening at his home on Huron River Drive South. The party was arranged by his wife, Beulah, and four sons. The birthday cake was baked and decorated by his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Don (Connie) Morris of Walnut Street. Fifteen guests enjoyed a delicious hot buffet supper and presented him with gifts.

Tomorrow evening at 6:30 the first in a series of pot luck dinners observing the Lenten season will be held in the basement of the United Methodist Church on Olive Street. Hosts and hostesses will be in charge of the individual tables and everyone is invited to attend. Rev. James Timmons of the Wyandotte First United Methodist Church will be this Thursday's guest speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Brown of Wayne Road spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Madeline Dechene, in Detroit. Mrs. Duchene has been suffering from poor health of late.

The ladies of the Romulus Jaycee Auxiliary are seeking to present an Outstanding Women's Award for community service. The Auxiliary invites local organizations, church or civic groups to send in their applicants. For further information phone Mrs. Joseph Bienkowski (941-0209) or write her at 15759 Taft, Romulus, 48174.

Mrs. Julius Szabo of Romulus Avenue spent several days last week caring for her three grandchildren, children of the Richard Barkers, at Howell. Mrs. Barker, the former Betty Ann Szabo, is in St. Joseph's Hospital in Ann Arbor in traction for her back.

Romulus Kiwanian Dave Draper, assisted by his wife, Helen, showed colored slides and narrated the couple's recent trip to England, Scotland and France at last Thursday's dinner-club meeting. The occasion was a special Ladies Night and was held at the St. Aloysius Catholic Church on Ozga Road.

Frank Gondek Sr., 58, of Huron River Drive South passed away Jan. 8 and funeral services were held Feb. 14 at St. Stephen's Catholic Church in New Boston. He was laid to rest in Michigan Memorial Park, Flat Rock. The Gondek operated the Gondek Sportscycle Shop on Huron River Dr.

Michigan State defeated Oklahoma State in wrestling in 1972 by a score of 20-15. It was MSU's first meet victory over the Cowboys after losing four times and tying once.

BEE CHAMPS - Cindy Bates (right), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bates, 34257 Wick Rd., Romulus, won both the fifth grade and school spelling bee championship at the Cory Elementary School, Romulus. The runner-up in the class spelling bee is Ricki Boatright (left), son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Boatright of 34085 McBride St., Romulus, and Anita Kent (center), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Kent of 9748 Lisa St., Romulus, who won the runner-up spot in the school bee.

Jaycees want crime program

The Romulus Jaycees, as a part of their community service projects, are attempting to construct a program of crime prevention information for Romulus area homeowners.

In order to accomplish this, the Jaycees met with the Wayne County Sheriff's office representative, Brooks Dunbar, on Tuesday (Feb. 8) at the United Methodist Church of Romulus for a program on what can be done.

When a plan is devised, the Jaycees will make available a list of "dos and don'ts" which can be incorporated in every home. In this way, the Jaycees hope many homeowners can be spared the occurrence of crime at their doorstep.

The Jaycees remind the young men of the community that membership is open to any young man between the ages of 18 and 35.

Interested persons may contact membership chairman Lee Silvey at 941-0289.

Van Buren needs precinct officers

Van Buren Township is seeking election precinct inspectors.

Mrs. Erma Jean Payne, township clerk, reported that applications are available at her office, 46425 Tyler Rd.

The township's need for election precinct inspectors is prompted by the township administration's precinct expansion. The current four election precincts will be increased to six. A map designating the locations of all precincts soon will be available.

Present precincts are located as follows: precincts one and four are at Fire Hall No. 1, located at Fourth and Main streets, Belleville, and precincts two and three are at Fire Hall 2, located on Ecorse Road, west of Belleville Road.

Persons seeking election precinct inspector's jobs must be registered voters of the township. They are paid $2.50 per hour during election times.

The Edgemont Elementary School's PTO, assisted the township's registration program by conducting voter registration at the conclusion of the PTO's pancake supper held last Thursday, it was announced.

Van Buren hires 10 more teachers

The Van Buren Board of Education has approved the hiring of 10 additional teachers for the second semester to help ease overloaded classrooms and provide additional preparation for elementary teachers.

The announcement of the new teacher hirings was made by School Superintendent Dale E. Kaulitz.

The assignments of seven of the 10 new teachers is as follows:

Mrs. Andrew Young of 1001 S. Forest St., Ann Arbor, English teacher at Belleville High School; Miss Cynthia Coleman of 4830 Washtenaw St., Ann Arbor, English-social studies teacher, Belleville High School.

Mrs. Deborah Imerson of Saline, art teacher, Edgemont Elementary School; Miss June Westgate of Monroe, art teacher, West Willow-Denton Elementary schools; and Terry Phillips of 15403 Chapel, Detroit, English-social studies teacher, North Junior High School.

Kaulitz also announced that Robert Renton of 615 Harley St., Belleville, has replaced William Sparrow at North Junior High School.

Sparrow has been named assistant principal at North Junior High.

New chamber eyes secret witness plan

The Romulus Metro-International Airport Chamber of Commerce is considering the formation of a Secret Witness Program in a city assistance program to curb crime in Romulus.

The program was discussed at length at the chamber's Feb. 14 meeting held at the Hilton Inn.

Chamber officials decided to set up a definite program at the chamber's next meeting, scheduled for March 13. The chamber initial secret witness fund of $250 would be separate program than now being drafted by the Romulus city council.

The city council has introduced at ordinances providing rules, regulations and procedures on the payment of funds to the person or persons responsible for the apprehension and subsequent conviction of those arrested in crime cases.

The chamber also announced plans are under way for a spring business promotion for chamber retail business establishments. It is planned to award a $250 cash prize to some lucky shopper who does his shopping at a chamber member store.

BARRY SUSTERKA
All-American bound?

By TOM MOORADIAN

For four consecutive years Belleville's Barry Susterka has dominated the Western Wayne Invitational diving boards.

And Saturday night, before a packed gallery, the senior diver did it again, accumulating 408.65 points in Belleville High stands in the path of Redford Union's title express which was derailed last week. If Redford can steal a victory from Coach Al Gates' Tigers, it will reign as the inaugural Suburban Eight Conference basketball king. "We know it, and they know it that this is a 'must game' for them," said Belleville Coach Al Gates. "They can't afford to lose this one, so they will be up for us."

"And I feel we're going to give them a run for their money," said Gates, whose Tigers have now strung together three victories in a row, including their latest revenge triumph over Dearborn High, 69-54.

Redford Union, however, will have the home court advantage for this league finale.

The victory against Dearborn was a "sweet one" because the Panthers were the catalysts of the six-game Belleville losing streak. The victory, the Tigers' fifth in 11 league starts, moved the winners into fifth place, one game out of fourth held presently by Dearborn.

Al Cicotte poured in eight of Belleville 16 points to lead the Tigers to a 16-11 first quarter lead which the winners never relinquished. Though Belleville, with Marty Miller's five points and Keith Neeley's four, managed to keep a 31-26 halftime edge, they didn't break the game open until the third quarter when they enjoyed at one time a 17 point spread.

For regional mat meet

We have 7 qualifiers

There were no real surprises - but one disappointment at the district wrestling tournament held over the weekend at Bedford in which Belleville and Romulus grapplers took part.

Seven - four from Belleville and three from Romulus - survived the district tournament and will advance to the state regional meet, the next step to the state finals.

Among those who qualified from Romulus are Brad Smith (126), Aaron Cross (138), John Arrington (170), Marvin William (185); from Belleville: Jose Garcia (126), John Smith (132), and Keith Simons (heavyweight).

Simons added two more pins to his national record. The hard-working senior floored Fordson's Tim Stump in 48 seconds in the preliminaries, then pinned Trenton's Steve Stackhouse in 3:40.

The two victories lifted Simons' national record of successive wins on falls (by falls) to 23. Earlier last week Keith established a national record for consecutive pins.

Teammates Garcia and Smith also had little difficulty. Garcia pinned Schafer's Jeff Wright in 3:40, then decisioned Brad Robinson of Melvindale 9-0, while Smith took two 7-2 decision from Carter Johnson (Adrian) and Paul Drouillard (Annapolis).

Pleased with the three wrestlers' performances, Coach Tom Fritz admitted he was disappointed at not having at least another regional qualifier. "Our one disappointment was in the 158-pound class where I felt Gary Krajewski should have gotten through."

Romulus' Smith had an easy time with Lincoln Park's Belleville piled up eight gold medals en route to the championship. The Tigers outdistanced their nearest rival, Garden City East, 96-50. Trailrider the leaders were Livonia Franklin (38), Cherry Hill (35), Garden City West (25), Wayne Memorial (22), John Glenn (16) and Robichaud.

Six invitational records, four by Belleville swimmers were broken Saturday night. Jeff Fry, a double winner for the champs, covered the 200-yard freestyle in a record-setting 1:54.22, then was awarded his second gold medal when he touched in at 50.87 for the 100-yard freestyle. Teammate Jim Ackron shattered the 200-yard individual medley mark with a winning time of 2:09.30 and he also captured a second gold medal when he was clocked in 1:07.01.

Jim's brother, Dean, was the top performer in the 100-yard butterfly, pulling up in 57.78.

Terry Mills, a 23.76 performer in the 50-yard freestyle, and Kurt Cullin, who set a record in the 400-yard freestyle when he finished in 4:07.33 also took firsts for Belleville.

Garden City East's relay teams and East's Jeff Blanchard rounded out the winners for the meet.

Coach Ron Clifton's foursome of Blanchard, Phil Bustos, Frank Stanislovatis and Dale Sweeney beat city rival, West's quartet of John Sollinger, Mark Harsseelgrave, Ron Horn and Dale Burns in the 200-yard medley, the winners finishing in 1:50.1.

Then, East put together the team of Randy Quint, Glenn Turnbull, Stanislovatis and Jim Fanner to take the 400-yard freestyle relay. The Panthers finished second to Livonia Franklin with a record time of 3:38.38, but was awarded the gold medal when Franklin was disqualified.

Blanchard, a junior who qualified for the state finals recently when he finished the 100-yard backstroke in 59.9, and Cherry Hill Tom O'Hagen staged a duel for the gold in the backstroke event and the East swimmer managed to touch in one tenth of a second before his rival.

Blanchard's winning time was 1:00.69 which also was an invitational record.

The invitational is sponsored by The Daily Eagle and the Associated Newspapers.

The results for the 10th annual Western Wayne Swimming & Diving Invitational are as follows:

Romulus crushes Rouge

Hold a River Rouge basketball team to a mere two baskets for eight minutes is impossible? Maybe, but that's what Romulus did Friday night as the Eagles crushed the defending Class B state champs and the top-ranked "B" team in the state this season, 80-54.

And a crowd of more than 1,400 fans were on hand to watch Coach Dave Court's quintet shatter the Rouge cage image.

"We were able to execute," said Court afterwards, alluding to the poor conditions his team had to play under the previous week at Inkster. "We had room out there to do what we wanted, and they all saw the results."

Romulus left little doubt in anyone's mind which was the better team that night.

Rouge took the opening tipoff and the Panthers prolific scorer Leighton Moughton drove in for a layup to give the state champs a 2-0 lead. It was the only time the visitors had the lead the rest of the night. They didn't score another basket in that quarter until Dell Steele's jump shot with less than 30 seconds remaining.

Meanwhile Romulus' John Long made a short work of the Panthers. The 6-5 sophomore poured in four baskets and cashed in on four free throws to provide the Eagles with 12 of their 22 first quarter points that moved them to a 22-7 lead.

The Eagle offense, backed by a meticulous defense, went to work on the Rouge cutting its zone defense apart. Calvin Harris joined the Romulus quintet in the second quarter and he began his bombardment that left the Panthers in a daze from which they never fully recovered.

Romulus held a 43-25 halftime lead and a 52-39 third quarter advantage, and never seriously felt the pressure from the Panthers, who had won a two-point, 62-60 victory from the Eagles in their first confrontation earlier this season.

Long and Harris split 49 points with the soph cager hitting on 12 field goals and four free throws for 28 points. Harris had five direct hits from the field and three from the foul line for 21. Also in double figures was James Hall, with 14.

Moulton led the Panthers with 20 points. "I have a great deal of respect for Lofton Greene," said Court. "Basically, we play the same style but I think it was the defense that made the difference in this one."

"Our stress on defense had paid off," Court added.

Earlier in the week, Romulus walloped Lincoln Park 86-36, holding the Railsplitters to 12 field goals

Romulus passes 'cage test'

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Your were greeted by a security officer in the driveway to Romulus High School. The officer immediately asked if you had a ticket for the game and when you reply that you are a member of the press he says: "I guess it's okay, but all the tickets have been sold and we aren't leaving anyone drive past this point."

He directs me to a parking space. It was Friday night. And Romulus was scheduled to play Rouge.

But as you approach the door you sense there is more than a game going on on this particular night.

It is a "trial run". Romulus is the site of one of the area district Class A playoffs and the high school, placed on probation by the Michigan High School Athletic Association last year after a melee which it and Ann Arbor Pioneer was involved in at Adrian, isn't taking any chances. It's apparently making sure nothing goes wrong.

At the gate, there are a couple of fans who plea with an officer and athletic director Ed Baum to "please let us in."

"I'm sorry," replied Baum. "We have sold 1,400 tickets for this one and we can't allow anyone else to enter."

I flash my press pass and am permitted to enter.

There are few fans in the hall, and entering the gym I'm greeted by George Pratt, head football coach who is directing a couple of students to positions to make sure no one goes on the floor. He smiles. He calls a student over. "John would you see that Mr. Mooradian's coat is put into the athletic director's office."

"Okay you guys, what's going on?" I asked Pratt. "What are you guys trying to prove, that you're better hosts than Inkster?"

"Hey, we didn't know you were even coming," replied Pratt.

And that is the truth.

But I've been at Romulus at other basketball times when what Dave Court the head basketball coach described and attributed to Inkster also prevailed at Romulus. (Court last week blasted Inkster for failing to provide ample conditions during the game between the two schools. He charged that the referees were intimidated to the point where they were playing was impossible.)

I wanted to get a first-hand view at the conditions the host would provide Rouge, the then top-ranked Class B team in the state. And that was one of the reasons I wanted to attend the game. I must admit that everything appeared in order.

If this was a pre-district test, then Romulus passed it 100 percent.

And if Friday night's game was any indication of the caliber of basketball Romulus is going to play, then watch out. The Eagles tore the defending class B state champs apart as if they were playing some class F or E team.

Who can ever recall holding Rouge to only two baskets in one period or going ahead of a Lofton Greene cage team by more than 20 points? That's what Romulus did.

Lofton may have a legitimate reason for losing this one: his favorite fan, Ray Clift, was missing from the stands. Clift is avid Rouge fan and has kept up with the Rouge cage scene for nearly two decades. However, the former publisher of the Associated Newspaper is bedded down at Annapolis Hospital, where he is recuperating from a heart condition.

We hope to see Ray back in Lofton's "lineup" soon.

And you remember Essa Sackllah, don't you, the former Garden City West wrestler who went on to become an outstanding wrestler at Wayne State University? In high school, if you recall, Essa tilted the scales somewhere in the vicinity of 350 to 366 pounds.

Now he's trimmed down to a hefty 266 and as a Tarter heavy weight last year he set a couple of records including the most pins and the fastest pins.

Essa isn't doing so bad as a sophomore either. He has accumulated 11 victories this year and recently captured the Grand Valley Invitational Wrestling Tournament, just missed being named the meet's most valuable wrestler by two votes.

Sackllah's teammate at West, Tom Byrem is also wrestling at WSU. And Tom recently placed fourth at the Ferris Invitational. He's a 150-pounder.

Since we're on the mats, let's stay there for a couple or so graphs.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kestel, of Garden City, dropped in to pick up some clippings about their son, Dale, who is wrestling for Adams State College in Alamosa, Col.

"We were surprised to see our son's picture in your newspaper," announced Mr. Kestel, who "back in the depression days was a boxer."

Mr. Kestel said he never missed a meet that his sons - Dale and Keith competed in but, of late, couldn't keep up with Dale, who has competed in such far off places as Sofia, Argentina, and Brazil.

Dale won state wrestling titles while at Garden City East High School and is presently eyeing a berth on the United States Olympic Freestyle or Greco-Roman teams.

The area has never had, to our knowledge, an Olympic participant - and Dale is as good a candidate as any.

Tiger swimmers rip Allen Park

Trenton is the last Suburban Eight Conference swim stop on Belleville's express which recently raced through the Western Wayne Invitational at a record clip.

Coach Sam Vicchy's Tigers trimmed Allen Park 57-48 last week to bring their league record to 4-2 on the season. The only league losses suffered by Belleville were to the two Dearborn high schools.

Belleville swimmers captured seven out of the 11 first places against Allen Park. Jeff Fry accounted for two of those victories. He was clocked in 1:54.2 in winning and setting a school record for the 200-yard freestyle, then he returned to the pool to post another school and pool record for the 100-yard freestyle, covering the distance in 50.7.

The Ackron brothers also picked up a pair of Belleville record establishing new records in each. Dean Ackron was clocked in the winning time of 57.0 for the 100-yard butterfly while Jim went the 100-yard breaststroke in 1:06.8.

Terry Mills, first in the 50-yard freestyle (23.6) and Barry Susterka, who accumulated 260.2 on the diving boards were also winners for the Belleville aggregation.

Marty Miller, who provided the Tigers with an all-round performance and 19 points, and Dearborn's John Renko shared individual scoring honors. Also in double figures for the Tigers were Cicotte, with 12, Mike Garland with 11 and Nealy who finished with 10.

Berry Copeland was the only other Dearborn cager to break two figures. He had 15.

Belleville is missing their chances at the free throw line where it capitalized on 25 of 41 opportunities. Dearborn hit on 14 of 22 foul shots.

The long frustrating conference basketball road came to an end for Huron High and Coach Andy Herman Friday night when third place Grosse Ile pays the New Boston cagers a visit.

The Chiefs, who have been able to win only one of their 11 league games, would like to bring down the league year with a victory, but, "it'll be tough," admits Herman.

"They're in second place and need this victory to stay there," Herman said. "One thing though, the pressure will be on them. We have nothing to lose and everything to win in this encounter."

Huron dropped a 71-64 decision to nonleague rival Dearborn Heights Annapolis last week as the Cougars jumped off to a 18-10 lead thanks to Chuck Barnhouse's and Mike Gorecki's six points apiece.

The Dearborn Heights cagers kept a 10-point halftime and third quarter advantages 39-29 and 53-43 as the Chiefs failed to overcome their poor shooting.

Dan Clark held the "hot hands" for the Chiefs. He hit on seven field goals and six free throws for 20 points, while Fred Cordts was the only other Huron cager to break into double figures. He had 11.

The Chiefs picked up 20 of 36 from the free throw line, while Annapolis made good on 11 of 18.

Brothers Pat and Tom Milkovich are regulars at 126 and 142 pounds respectively on Michigan State's 1972 varsity wrestling team. They were coached by their father back at Maple Heights, Ohio High School.

Upset-minded Huron hosts Grosse Ile

Barnhouse and Steve Paul wound up leading the Cougars with 14 points each.

OPENED FOR OCCUPANCY — Two new residential developments located at 955 Sumpter Rd., Belleville, have been opened and are now accepting tenant applications. The developments are the Belle Villa Estates Townhouses and the Belle Villa Estates Mobile Home Park. The 28-acre development is located near the northeast intersection of Hull and Sumpter roads. There are at present 79 completed townhouses that are available under a condominium arrangement and 246 sites available in the mobile home park nearby. The top photo displays the townhouses and the lower photo shows one of the mobile homes as well as the clubhouse for the exclusive use of park residents and guests during scheduled hours.

Great market potential for state's agriculture

Although Michigan is usually thought of in terms of industrial production, agriculture is extremely important. There are over 13,000 manufacturing and processing plants in the state and the automobile industry employs about 500,000 people. Michigan also has 134,000 bread-winners working in agriculture.

Speaking to nearly 400 State and County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committeemen and employees in Grand Rapids on Feb. 9, Seeley Ludwick, executive assistant to the administrator, emphasized the great market potential for Michigan and U.S. Agriculture. Nick Smith, chairman of the Michigan ASC committee, conducted the conference.

Ludwick commented that world population is growing rapidly. Per capita income in the developed countries like the U.S., Japan and Western Europe has been rising about 3.8 per cent per year in recent years. That is a market potential of perhaps one billion people. Per capita income in India, Pakistan and mainland China is increasing at the rate of 2.7 per cent per year. This represents a market potential of about two billion people. More people with more money adds up to more sales for farmers, provided we have the right products available at the right prices.

Extremely important to this concept of selling is the Agricultural Act of 1970. For the first time since allotments and bases were established for these crops, farmers themselves have been able to determine their planings.

We can draw some conclusions from what already has happened under the greater freedom of the '70 Act. About 85 per cent of the nation's eligible base acres and allotments were enrolled in commodity programs last year and made major cropping changes. Over a period of years, these farms have made cropping changes involving 60 million acres. A substantial part of this shift came in 1971 as a result of the Agricultural Act of 1970.

These shifts represent important management decisions by American farmers, as they seek better net income through more profitable use of their land. There is less emphasis today on government takeover of crops. Farmers throughout the country have demonstrated they like this new freedom to plant and harvest according to their own capabilities, resources and desires. During 1971 more farmers participated in the new set-aside programs than had ever participated in the history of volunteer farm programs. As a result, the collective benefits are greater. Today, farmers can take advantage of more options. Farmers also can use their own judgment and experience and resources. Exports are important in Michigan. Any market which provides directly for $113 million of sales is important. Indirectly, exports are also important because if we fail in our bid to export, all American farmers will suffer, Michigan farmers included — not only in the amount represented by present export sales but also by an over all contribution nationwide of our agricultural plant. Twelve years ago the produce from one out of every five acres was exported. In twelve years that has increased to one out of every four.

Should we fail to meet our export commitments, customers and potential customers throughout the world will no longer recognize the United States as a dependable source of supply. Rather they will go to other producing areas of the world, and there are many, to obtain the products they want. For even though the duck strikes may seem miles away, they do have a direct bearing on Michigan agriculture and the well-being of the Michigan farmer.

The 100-day West Coast duck strike last year, and the threat of a continuation which materialized last month, created uncertainty in the wheat market. Based on purchases by the Japanese Food Agency, the U.S. farmer's share of this market for the March-December period fell from 55 per cent to 40 per cent. U.S. losses of sales are in the neighborhood of 25 million bushels valued at $40 million, and this loss continues to build. On Jan. 19, the day after the West Coast duck strike resumed, the Japanese purchased 8.7 million bushels of wheat on the world market

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

BY HAROLD REDISKE, DIRECTOR

Lots of proud people strive for and glory in a stunning status symbol. Other people, equally proud, have a sad status. For some families, a status symbol is a heritage given in the cradle, released at the grave. A status symbol is an accomplishment. However, a moral stature linked to the material status is far more important. Surely all good people will agree moral stature should overshadow material status. A status symbol is a fragile possession. Bad judgment, bad breaks, bad behaviour - even other people can crash a status symbol to smithereens. A moral stature is not so fragile. You can destroy it of course, but no one else can destroy it for you. A status symbol is a part of the world. Moral stature is a part of the person. This is another way of pointing out, "We are in the world, we are not of the world."

Van Buren accepts brothers' resignations

Letters of resignation submitted by twin brothers have been accepted by the Van Buren Township Board. The resignations, submitted earlier to Township Supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer, were those of Douglas Kobish of 46811 Ecorse Rd., former dog warden, and his twin brother, Donald Kobish of 884 Sumpter

Rd., assistant ordinance violation officer. In their separate resignation letters, the brothers stated they were resigning because of a township policy recently adopted under which an employee cannot work more than four hours a day if he works elsewhere on a full-time basis.

Amy Vanderbilt's etiquette

'Doggy' visitors create a problem

"Dear Miss Vanderbilt: Is it proper to take along a house dog when 'visiting' friends? I never allow our dogs in the house, but several people have brought their dogs with them and have expected me to be as adoring as they are toward their 'babies,' including feeding part of the family meal to the dog! Also they are so afraid my little boy may frighten their little darling because, they infer, he is such a monster. I don't appreciate that kind of company. - Mrs. T.K."

No one should take a dog visiting friends without asking permission and then being sure the permission is warmly given. In your case you would be justified in saying that, as you do not allow your own dogs in the house, you would prefer to have your friends come without theirs. There is available a good, basic leaflet giving many of the dos and don'ts for you and your dog. If you would like a copy, send me a self-addressed stamped envelope marked "Good Dog Neighbor." It is free.

"Dear Miss Vanderbilt: Should you put a return address on a post card? - I.T."

It is a good idea to put your return address (including ZIP code) on any mail going out. Otherwise, if it is misdirected, it can go to the dead-letter office. Sometimes the post office makes an effort to find the addresses, but often they are too busy or can't and your communication is wasted.

Shelves for pocket books can be 1 x 6 pine of fir boards.

"Dear Miss Vanderbilt: Shouldn't a boy still do the pursuing instead of the girl? - B.B."

Well, that's the way it should seem. Most girls know that there are many subtle things that they can do — and some not so subtle — to attract a boy's attention. Often if they wait for pursuit, nothing happens at all.

What are some of the permissible things a girl may do if she is attracted to a boy who doesn't notice her particularly? Here they are:

1 — She may phone him if she has a legitimate reason to do so (or makes the reason sound legitimate).

2 — She may invite him to a party at her own house — presumably not for herself but just as an extra boy. (And, if he comes, she shouldn't be possessive but let him make the overtures.)

3 — She may invite him to any function for which she has the tickets — a sorority dance, for example, a concert or theater production. If he accepts, he usually supplies the transportation (but her parents may supply this).

4 — She may develop an overwhelming interest in the sports he pursues or the extracurricular activity he has, then seek him out and ask him about it. He'll be flattered and consider her a very bright girl.

5 — She can do everything she can to put herself into his immediate vicinity — on the same committee, the same clubs and so forth.

6 — If he is a leader, she can do everything she can to become a leader also. Leaders often attract each other.

"Dear Miss Vanderbilt: I am desperate. We are building a new home and our builder deliberately put in an archway between the living and dining rooms. My neighbor laughed and said such arches were out of style—Mrs. B."

I would really have to know more about the type of house you have to give you a proper answer. However, you should know that arches do not go in and out of style. They do belong in certain types of architecture (traditional Spanish, for example and there were arches in Georgian architecture). If you are certain that the arch does not belong in your house—perhaps a ranch—all is not lost. Have the builder fill in the arch, perhaps with plasterboard, and put an appropriate finish over it, the same as the rest of the wall.

If you wish, the space could be filled in with a door (or doors if the arch is a wide one). Women with no help frequently like dining rooms that can be completely closed off so table clearing may be put off until after guests leave.

If an architect was in charge—always a good idea—naturally it is his problem and he should see to the correction if the builder did not follow plans.

(For Amy Vanderbilt's booklet, "Letter Writing," send your name and address, plus 75 cents in coin, to: Miss Amy Vanderbilt, (The Daily Eagle), P.O. Box 1066, Weston, Conn. 06880, requesting the booklet by name.)

Peace Corps speaker is guest

Both the gaily appointed tables and the smorgasbord dinner depicted the theme of World Affairs for the February Business and Professional Women's meeting at Edgemont School. The dinner consisted of dishes typical of various countries.

Preceding the program, Mrs. Ruth Baehr and Mrs. Helen White sang a duet, "Let There Be Peace."

The World Affairs

Committee, chaired by Mrs. Ruth Baehr, secured Mrs. Arley McCuaig as speaker for the evening. Through her narration and slides, she showed some of the work of the Peace Corp in the deprived country of San Salvador, Central America, and the changes taking place therein. Mrs. McCuaig had on display several interesting articles from Central America.

A lovelier you

Timely remedy for winter skin

By MARY SUE MILLER

A Lovely writes: My skin is so dry, it's actually scuffed and towels off in little flakes. I have tried body lotions, without much result. What would you suggest?

The Answer: Well, you might try some "Intensive Care"

...a combination of related lotion and bath oil. Several times weekly slather on the lotion and recline for 20 minutes on a terry towel. Tissue off the excess, lather with a mild skin soap and shower. Dry, and massage in a film of lotion.

In the interim, soak, really soak, in a tub surfaced with a capful of intensive care bath oil. It creates a film of oil on the surface of the water to supply the bather's skin with a maximum amount of lubrication. Never fear, the after feeling is not greasy or sticky, but smooth and velvety. Finish off, of course, with a film of lotion.

We are aware through chemistry that body cosmetics with an oil formula work to satinate the skin by helping to restore natural lubrication. Even more vital, oil on the skin is an aid in holding moisture.

The importance of moisture to youthful-looking skin is a comparatively recent discovery. Nonetheless, it has a solid foundation. The skins of the young are dewy. Moisture lessens with age. Oil acts to capture moisture.

NEW BEAUTY FOR DRY SKIN

For ways to keep past-30 skin smooth and dewy, order my leaflet, NEW BEAUTY FOR DRY SKIN. It tells in personalized steps how to cleanse, correct, protect and make up for dryness. To obtain your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller in care of this newspaper, enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope and 15 cents in coin.

Wednesday, March 29, at Dearborn Lodge on Monroe St.

The Bible was closed, flag retired and the meeting declared closed. All enjoyed refreshments with a special thank you given to Sister Caroline Sherwood and her refreshment committee for the lovely way the tables were decorated with the Valentine theme and flowers.

The following day, Feb. 11, Sisters Effie Kerbyson, Hazel Miller, Ruth Ann Kyns, and Olive Caswell motored to Highland Park where they attended a luncheon and school of instruction. Those present at that gathering were representatives from 40 Lodges in Michigan.

A look at 1985

In 1985, according to some economists, consumer expenditures will have increased in the following amounts over what we're paying today: food and beverages, 79 percent; personal and medical care, 185 percent; housing, 172 percent; recreation and education, 149 percent; house-hold operation and furnishing, 110 percent; transportation, 107 percent and clothing, 95 percent. These predictions are based on a corollary forecast that all Americans will be receiving equivalently higher incomes.

IRS office relocated

Taxpayer service and information is furnished on the first floor at the new location. The office also staffs personnel qualified to answer questions on the Economic Stabilization Program.

Office hours for taxpayer service and information remain unchanged; Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The district director suggested that most taxpayer's questions can be answered by phone. The IRS new telephone number in Dearborn is 226-7602.

The new location features improved facilities for the public as well as ample parking in a lot adjacent to the building, Cardoza said.

The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) is again reminding area residents that the Dearborn office has been relocated.

According to Thomas A. Cardoza, district director of IRS, many taxpayers are mistakenly traveling to the former office to obtain information regarding the filing of their 1971 Federal tax return.

The Dearborn office of IRS is now located at 22720 Michigan Ave. The building formerly known as the IBM Building, is situated near Western Shopping Center, east of Outer Drive.

The office serves most of south and southwest Detroit and suburban communities.

River Rouge trucker gets best driver award

A million miles of accident-free driving on Michigan roads and highways led a 57-year-old River Rouge truckdriver to be named the 1971 Driver of the Year by the Michigan Trucking Industry.

Secretary of State Richard Austin presented Alfonso Guarino with the large trophy, symbolic of the highest honor accorded a professional truck driver in Michigan.

Guarino has spent 25 years behind the wheel of an R-W Service System Inc. Hogue Steel Division rig and has logged over one million miles of non-chargeable accident-free driving.

Born in Ashtabula, Ohio in 1914, the 57-year-old driver remembers a rough beginning in the trucking industry. It was 25 years ago in an old GMC that he made five steel deliveries between Ypsilanti and Benton Harbor during a snow and ice storm.

An Army veteran, he also worked for Great Lakes Steel and was a spray painter for Murray Corp. before joining the trucking industry.

Guarino was selected as the Michigan Trucking Association's Driver of the Year from among 12 nominees. The other 11 drivers were honored by the association as Drivers of the Month for the year 1971.

R-W Service Systems' Safety Director, Joe Farhat said, "Mr. Guarino pays very careful attention to his

More than 600 members of the trucking industry, state officials and members of the legislature were on hand to witness the selection.

Sumpter Township will have no dog vaccination program this year, Sumpter Township Clerk Clarence J. Hoffman Jr. announced.

The vaccination program can not be conducted due to lack of facilities at the present time, Hoffman said.

Dog owners are urged to get their dogs vaccinated at their veterinarian and then obtain the necessary license at the township hall, 23483 Sumpter Rd.

Stadium lease pact revised

To take advantage of current low bond interest rates, the Wayne County Stadium Authority has asked the Wayne County Board of Commissioners to revise the stadium lease agreement concluded last fall.

The commissioners stadium committee, meeting Feb. 17, voted unanimously to recommend the revised plan be approved by the county board. The committee also voted unanimously for approval of the proposed stadium user's agreement with the Detroit Tigers baseball club.

Under the proposed revisions, the authority would acquire the land by paying $12 million of the approximate $15 million purchase price from bond proceeds. The remaining $3 million would be paid by the City of Detroit from bond proceeds already earmarked for Civic Center development.

The original plan was to have Detroit Renaissance Inc. find a private developer who would purchase the acreage and then give the acreage needed for the stadium to the county.

"The stadium authority was advised by bond counsel that interest rates are not expected to go any lower than the current 6½ per cent and are likely to start moving upward in April," explained Commission Thomas P. O'Rourke, the stadium committee chairman.

The original agreement between the authority and the Board of Commissioners was predicated on a 7½ per cent bond interest rate. Sale of the $126-million construction bond issue at 6½ per cent would mean an initial savings of $4 million and a savings of more than $40 million in interest over the entire period of the bond issue.

Stadium authority members told O'Rourke's committee that Detroit Renaissance might not have its arrangements completed in time to take advantage of the current interest rates.

Under the original plan, the Renaissance group was to arrange for a developer to purchase 72 acres of land owned by two railroads west of Cobo Hall and give the 36-acre stadium site to the county.

Negotiations are continuing with prospective developers and investors who could relieve the authority of some or all of its obligation.

Ecology Club named in Jaycee competition

The Romulus Jaycees have nominated the Ecology Club of the Romulus Senior High School for the Walter P. Ruether Award, sponsored each year by the Michigan Jaycees.

The award is presented annually to a group or person who has done outstanding work in the area of environmental control.

Entries from all over the state are judged on the contributions that have been made during that year. Judging of entries is scheduled for Feb. 29.

This year the Jaycees felt that the Ecology Club should be nominated because of their efforts to campaign for more ecology thinking in the Romulus area. This year the club sponsored by Miss Marsha Stroko of the Romulus High teaching staff has concentrated on recycling efforts in the areas of paper and glass.

Several collection drives have been undertaken and more are planned for the spring of 1972.

Square dance classes slated

A "Get Acquainted With Square Dancing" night will be held at 7:30 p.m., Feb. 23, at the South Junior High School in Belleville. There is no charge for this dance.

For those interested in learning how to square dance, lessons in the basic movements will start the following Wednesday, March 1, at the same location and time. For further information call 697-0690.

The group is also interested in converting the school system over to using recycled paper for its day-to-day needs. They are currently meeting with the school board on this matter.

With the nomination of the group the Romulus Jaycees will now begin their search for other candidates for future awards.

Citizens or local groups wishing to bring suggestions to the Jaycees should write to The Romulus Jaycees, P.O. Box 35, Romulus, Michigan, 48174.

The only necessary criteria for a nomination is that the individual or groups be currently active in the area of environmental protection and proper use.

'72 wheat-feed grain program signup lags

Producers of wheat and feed grains in the state should sign up early in the 1972 Wheat-Feed Grain Program, Nick Smith, chairman of the Michigan Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, announced.

The sign-up began in all county ASCS offices on Feb. 3 and will end on March 10.

Producer sign-up in the 1972 program is not quite up to expectations at this point. Although a slow start was anticipated because some details could not be determined until after the special report of farmer's 1972 planting intentions was analyzed, all problems have been resolved and complete program details are now available.

Farmers may avoid standing in line if they contact their ASCS office early. In past years most counties experienced a last minute rush of producers to enroll before the deadline. Some counties reported processing as many as 300 applications a day.

The program in 1972 is more complex, Smith noted, and much more time will be spent with each producer to clearly explain all program options that are available. This, naturally, will slow down the rate of enrollment and require a longer wait for those producers waiting in line.

Farm programs are voluntary and farmers must sign up in order to take part in them. In 1971, more than 75,000 farms were enrolled.

Smith added, in closing, that the 1972 program, with its additional acreage set-aside, is the key to long-range success of an over-all plan to protect farm incomes and correct an over-supply of wheat and corn caused by this year's record crops.

He emphasized the fact that farm programs benefit all consumers, not just the agricultural segment of our economy.

Faust also said that the voters will be given an opportunity to pass judgement on the constitutionality of the property tax as a means of financing public education or else he and other senators would submit legislation revoking the renewal.

The same understanding was reached by the lawmakers last year when they approved a hike from 2.6 per cent to 3.9 per cent. However, the public vote was never materialized and the Senate voted to eliminate the expiration date.

Plawecki said that it was his understanding that the hike was never temporary when approved last year.

A move under way in the Senate to increase the tax was

Belleville eyes ambulance pact

An agreement between the City of Belleville and the Superior Ambulance Service of Southgate, calling for the payment of fees from unpaid ambulance calls in the city, is being drafted this week.

The city agreed to work out an agreement at its Feb. 7 council session following a report by Harry Hayden of Superior Ambulance Service stating his company had three unpaid bills for Belleville in the amount of $129 for last year.

The bills are due from calls for the Wayne County Sheriff's Department. The city council has agreed to discuss the proposed agreement when it is submitted by the ambulance company.

Hayden reported that under a present pact, the county sheriff's department has agreed to pay for any uncollectible ambulance fees in unincorporated areas. The current agreement has no provisions for the payment of unpaid bills in incorporated areas such as Belleville.
